EASILY TAKING THE CONVENTION.

The Garden City Walks Away With the Prize Once More-June Third Decided Upon as the Eventful

Date.

Washington, Dec. 12.—The Republican National Committee met at the Arlington Hotel at noon. The meeting was promptly called to order by Secretary Martin, and Senator Sabine, of Minnesota, was unanimously chosen chairman, to succeed the late Marshall Jewell. Senator Frye, of Maine, at once took the floor and spoke in favor of his proposition for a change of the basis of representation in future conventions. The Arlington was crowded with delegates from Chicago, Philadelphia, Indianapolis, Saratoga and other places, waiting an op-portunity to appear before the Committee o impress upon them the advantage of each city over others as the proper place to hold the convention.

At 2 p. m. the debate on the plan of representation was suspended, and the ques tion laid over until later in the day. resolution fixing June 3d as the date of the convention was adopted. Arguments then commenced as to the place where the convention will be held. After all the delegations from the various cities had been heard, a somewhat anima-ted discussion was held, the general drift of which was largely in favor of Chicago. On a vote being taken, it was shown that the Garden City had the prize, it being decided on the second ballot to hold the Con vention there on the date appointed, June 3. The delegations from Philadelphia and Cincinnati were especially disappointed as prior to the decision, and up to the very last moment they had been quite confident

ENGLAND DENOUNCED.

Nationalists.

Speeches by a Number of Leading Irish DUBLIS, Dec. 12.—The grand banquet tendered to Mr. Charles S. Parnell, in connection with the testimonial presented, was given in the Rotunda. It was a magnificent affair, and over 600 persons sat down to dinner. The hall was decorated with the National and American colors, and the tables laden with flowers and patriotic devices. There were no less than twenty-four members of Parliament, closely identified with the Home Rule party interests, present. Charles Dawson, M. P., Lord Mayor of Dublin, presided and made an address. Many congratulatory telegrams which had been received from America and England were read amidst cheers. Mr. Michael Davitt, in an extended address, said that the Irishmen of to-day were little better than slaves, and were working out a sentence of political servitude from which their own hands alone could free them. They must look to themselves, and active or direct interference from abroad must not and could not be expected. To-night they had gathered to express their grati-tude and do honor to Mr. Parnell, who was not only their leader in Parliament and at home, not only their trusted champion, but the prime minister of the will of the Irish nation [cheers and applause] Mr. Thomas Sexton, the member from Sligo, was received with cheers, and was applauded when he said Ireland's strength increased land was not only no longer mistress of the seas, but her commerce was decreasing and her trade monopolies were being lost to her. Ireland was resolved to be free, and would be free [cheers]. The Lord Mayor read an address and made the formal presentation of a check representing £38,000 of the popular subscription testimonial. The audience was very enthusiastic as Mr. Parnell appeared on the platform. He was thank ful, he said, to find evidence there was se many who, like himself, sympathized with the trembling and down-trodden tenantry, whose condition was little better, and often worse, than that of the South African negroes. He sympathized even more deeply with the laborers, who were no better than slaves of slaves, and whose lives were simplý one prolonged struggle for existence. To sustain an existence as a nation under such circumstances was difficult. Out of those outrageous conditions arose the National League overwhelming an oppressive landlordism. This uprising of an overridden people Parliament had chosen to call a scheme of gigantic robbery. Not only was this false, but no national movement had been made against any such odds as were against the Irish people, with equal discretion and utter absence of crime and passion. The people had stifled their feelings or controlled them, and decided by the law, which has, however, not helped their wrongs. He referred briefly and forcibly to the fact that the British Government should have thought it necessary to overrun the country and place fearful and law-abiding citizens under surveillance of regular troops to the number of 30,000, and to make it their duty to support a police and constabulary force of 15,000. The writ of habeas corpus had been often suspended of late, and the late lamented Chief Secretary ("Buckshot") Foster had imprisoned over a thousand Irishmen without any sufcient cause. The present Coercion act was the best result of the concerted work of all England's best lawyers and statesmen, and the outcome of much study. Under it neither the life nor liberty of any man was, or could be, assured. He deliberately ridiculed the appeal of Lord Hartington to abandon the methods which had been employed to oppose English misrule. There could never be any amalgamation between the Irish party and the Liberals until after the Coercion Act had been re-pealed and the Ministry had abandoned its policy of forced emigration. WASHINGTON TOPICS.

Mr. Reagan's Views of Speaker Carlisle's

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Thos. Petit, of Kentucky, has been appointed Tally Clerk

In the House, Mr. Willis (Ky.) asked leave to have printed a petition, very largely signed, asking an extension of the time when whisky may be retained in bond, but the proposition was met with a prompt "I object" from Mr. White (Ky.), whose hostility to the whisky men was so fre-quently manifested in the last Congress.

TARIFF RUMORS.

What Certain Congressmen Say of Them. A story was circulated to the effect that Speaker Carlisle had requested Representative Morrison, (Ill.,) to select a majority of the House such members as he though would best represent his, Carlisle's, tariff views in the committee on Ways and Means, and that Mr. Morrison had been embarrassed in his first effort in that direc tion by the declination of Hon, Randolph Tucker, (Va.) to serve on the cou-mittee. It was stated that Mr. Tucker's principal objection was to serving as "second fiddle" to Morrison. In conversation on the subject Mr. Tucker authorized the denial of the story, saying: 'I have heard the rumor but there is nothing in it, and you can say that there will not be the least difficulty in engaging the Ways and Means Committee. As to the statement that I will not serve as second fiddle' to Mr. Morrison, it is all bosh. Whether or not I will act as a member of the Committee on Ways and Means is a matter respecting which I have not talked, and at this time cannot do so."

The following self-explanatory conversation subsequently occurred between Representative Rulles, a prominent Republican Member from Indiana, and a reporter 'Have you heard anything of the report that the Republican Members are joining cer tain Democratic Members for the purpose of hurrying the passage of a bill to abolish the present internal revenue laws, thereby reducing the income tax to a minimum and of revision of the tariff ?"

'Oh, yes, the matter has come to me there is such a scheme on foot."

"Will it succeed ?" "I think not. I presume a large number of the Democratic Members could be enlisted, but I don't think that very many Republicans will favor it-that is, not enough to give it a majority in the House, There is a large element of Democratic members who would probably prefer to abolish the internal revenue system to revising the tariff, but I hardly think there is a majority, even with Republicans who would prefer that to a tariff revision.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 .- At the Cabine meeting all the members of the Cabinet were present except Secretary Folger, who is still indisposed. The O'Donnell case was brought up and considered. State Department officials decline at present to disclose the nature of these later instructions.

THE CROPS. December Report of the Department of

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 13.—The De-cember crop returns issued from the Department of Agriculture report the season for cotton picking since the occurrence of frosts, in the gathering of the cotton crop, quite favorable. The local estimates of product have not been diminished, and the tone of comment has been comparatively hopeful. The indications of the Department returns favor a production of about thirteen per cent, from the crop last year. This report points to a crop of about 6,000, 000 bales. It is possible the cotton move ment of this year may pass that limit.

The New Railroad Arrangement.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.-The announce ment by Manager S. S. Merrill, of the Mil-waukee and St. Paul Railroad, that his road would not enter any pool agreement on Omaha business which could not include all the roads in the lowa trunk association, has placed an entirely different appearance from that of a few days ago. Formal no tice was given on the street of the consum mation of the new alliance, and Mr. Wads worth, of the St. Paul Road, stated that the Rock Island and St. Paul had formed a new pool in Iowa business, owing to the dissolution of the old pool, and that the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and Northwest could come in if they accepted the percentage. What the percentage was Mr Wadsworth declined to say. As for the Union Pacific's share, Mr. Wadsworth stated the best legal advice in the country agreed that its action was perfectly legal. The Northwest people decline to outline their future policy until they are informed of the terms of the alliance. The impres sion on the street is that the new deal will result disastrously to the roads both east and west of the Missouri River.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.-As a whole the dry goods trade has been quiet the past week but there was a freer movement in cotton fabrics from first hands. Several of the most popular makes of bleached cotton were reduced to low prices to close out, and large sales of a few leading styles were made to jobbers and the shirt trade, but the volume of business done in this was hardly up to expectations, and by no means encouraging to manufacturers. are aware too many goods are being made and are more or less apathetic, under the belief they will find difficulty in stocking up at present prices. The jobbing trade was dull, but a fair distribution of goods was made by most of the principal hous while heavy winter fabrics, such as wool-lens, flannels, blankets, cloaks and underwear were mostly quiet. Holiday goods continue active in both first and second hands, though it cannot be denied the de mand lacked the spirit of former years.

THE TYNG SCANDAL

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 12.—The confession of MILWAUKEE, Dec. 12.—The confession of the four youthful fire bugs shows that their only object in destroying thousands of dol-lars worth of property was to see the fun. The boys families are all respectable and of some prominence, besides that resulting from their youngest members. Beanie West is the son of Colonel F. H. West, the commission merchant, and is only fifteen years old. Joe Moffet is the son of a mar years old. Joe Montet is the son of a mar-ble sculptor and is very precoclous for fourteen years. He said to-day: "We didn't have any particular object and there wasn't any bloody dagger business about it. We were only banded together to have some fun. When we saw in the papers that Pinkerton's detectives were working us up, we pulled out." Moffett was the feader of the quartette. The reward of $250 of the quartette. NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—The great ball was duly given by William H. Vanderbilta this residence on Fifth avenue. The preparations were in progress for weeks past, and the decorations were the most costly ever seen in this city. A large awning extended from the curbatone to the main entrance, and the sidewalk and steps were richly carpeted. Rare and costly flowers were everywhere displayed in profusion, and the walls of the ball and dining rooms were hung with light red velvet, embroid-ered with leaves in neutral colors. Over 1,500 invitations were issued, and the guests, who began to arrive soon after nine o'clock, were received by Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt, assisted by other members of the family. As it was a full dress, and not a costume ball, the scene was not so picturesque as at Wm. K. Vanderbilt's famous masquerade of last winter. CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—Railroad officials are all at sea over the reported signing in New all at sea over the reported signing in New York of the tripartite agreement between the Union Pacific, Rock Island and St. Paul roads. Commissioner Midley, of the lowa Pool, read the dispatch to the effect that the agreement had been signed, and said it was contrary to his advices. He said the report that the Rock Island had given official notice of its withdrawal from the lowa Pool was incorrect. The meeting of the pool representatives has been postponed until next Tuesday. There is great anxiety. until next Tuesday. There is great enxiety to know what the specifications in the agreement are. The combinations in the agreement are. The combinations in the above three roads must mean war. It means a fight with the Northwestern and Chicago, Burlington and Quiney; and whist the end will be, except a general demoralization of freight and passenger rates, no one seems to know. The agreement undoubtedly means that the roads which are a party to it hold the upper hand, and, while the door is left open for the other roads to come in, they can only do so by roads to come in, they can only do so by submitting to the dictatorial power of the Union Pacific, the Rock Island and St.
